

Getting your family history organised

Across

2. What must you do regularly to ensure you don't lose your family history records on your computer, laptop etc?
3. The first name of the woman who started a massive online directory of thousands of useful family history links, and has published her list on the web
6. What must you cite, in order to be able to retrace your research steps, and prove your findings at a later date?
7. When storing family heirlooms and precious documents, you need to aim for storage materials that are _____ free
8. When scanning in family photos, it is advisable to scan the mount and also the _____ in case there are useful clues there

Down

1. The name of a popular family history program for keeping your research organised
4. Should you write notes when researching your family history (i.e. is it okay to rely on your memory)? Yes or no
5. The online virtual reference library for genealogists with UK and Irish ancestors

