

	Family History Week theme of the day	What's happening on the Family Tree website?	What's happening in the Family Tree Academy Facebook group?
Monday 16th April	Starting your family history/refreshing your family history skills	Every day in #FHWeek will have guides and downloads to help you with your family history research. Check out today's #FHWeek blogs - advice that is perfect for beginners or to help you brush up on your family history skills. See also the crossword of the day. Plus your free downloadable family history worksheets with 20 useful questions to ask your relations.	Running each day in #FHWeek we'll be chatting about a chosen topic in 'Discussion of the day' (posted daily at 8am). Plus we will also be looking at a different document from times gone by in 'Document of the Day' (posted daily at noon). To join the Academy, go to https://www.facebook.com/groups/1983808571867592/
Tuesday 17th April	Doing family history for free	Today's blogs will help you find your family history for free and learn how to fill in a family tree. Don't miss today's crossword. Plus get your free downloadable family tree chart for you to fill in your ancestor's names.	Today in the Family Tree Academy Facebook group we'll be discussing 'True or false? How reliable have you found your family stories?'. Plus today's 'Document of the Day' is the Windrush passenger list.
Wednesday 18th April	Getting your family history organised	Today's blogs will help you get your family history research in good order and learn how to 'keep accurate records. There's also a crossword of the day. Plus don't miss your free downloadable family history record sheets.	Today in the Family Tree Academy Facebook group we'll be discussing 'What do you know about your surname?'. Plus today's 'Document of the Day' is the burial register of the plague village of Eyam.
Thursday 19th April	Doing family history online	Today's blogs will help you find 50 great websites for family history research and learn useful web tricks for successful online research. There's also a crossword of the day. Plus a handy download guide with online search tips.	Today in the Family Tree Academy Facebook group we'll be discussing 'Do you put your family history research online?'. Plus today's 'Document of the Day' is a deserter's First World War service record.
Friday 20th April	Discovering how DNA can help your family history research	Today's blogs will help you learn how a DNA test can help your family history research. Read on to learn more about these latest tools for family historians. Don't forget today's crossword. Plus a handy check list to download with key basic details about DNA testing for family history.	Today in the Family Tree Academy Facebook group we'll be discussing 'Do you have a DNA dilemma?'. Plus today's 'Document of the Day' is a suffragette's listing on an electoral register.
Saturday 21st April	How to improve your family history research skills	Today's blogs will help you learn how to take your research back many centuries - even to the 1500s. Discover the vital documents to help you. There's a crossword of the day. Plus pit your wits in the family history quiz.	Today in the Family Tree Academy Facebook group we'll be discussing 'What about you?'. Plus today's 'Document of the Day' is the will of diarist Samuel Pepys.
Sunday 22nd April	Getting out and about with your family history	Today's blogs will help you discover ways to take your family history out and about. Learn how to trace your ancestor's village and put it on the map. Don't miss today's crossword. And finally, be sure to get today's download - a handy check list of how to plan a great family history day out.	Today in the Family Tree Academy Facebook group we'll be discussing 'What ideas do you think will get younger people into family history?'. Plus today's 'Document of the Day' is a vintage newspaper report on a plane crash at Heathrow.